This marks the ninth year ERP has released an Honor Roll list. The ERP Honor Roll program is sponsored by the Campaign for Business and Education Excellence and presented in collaboration with the Texas Business Leadership Council.

According to ERP, it's part of a national effort to identify higher performing schools and districts that are improving student outcomes and preparing students with the skills that employers value and demand. Schools that receive this distinction have demonstrated consistently high levels of student academic achievement, improvement in achievement levels over time and a reduction in achievement gaps among student populations.

LISD Assistant Superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction Dr. Gerardo Cruz said making the Honor Roll list is something that happened organically without having to fill out or submit any paperwork.

"Our schools didn't apply for this award," Cruz said. "Our results led them to us. We're thankful for the hard work of our students and teachers. This recognition is a testament to the sustained focus on academic results and commitment to lifelong student success that our school and parent community have shown over the years."

UISD Assistant Superintendent for Administration and Policies Rebecca Morales said the district was thrilled to have been selected for the recognition, especially with the vast number of schools that made the list.
